

Assistant Professor of Sociology, Auburn University

The Department of Sociology, Anthropology and Social Work at Auburn University invites applications for a tenure track position at the Assistant Professor level starting August 16, 2009. Applicants must have a Ph.D. in Sociology at the time of appointment and demonstrate potential in research, teaching and outreach. Specific areas of specialization are open, but research and teaching expertise that contributes to diversity issues and also quantitative or qualitative research methods and statistics is a plus. The position will involve teaching one course per semester in the Women's Studies program along with teaching, research and service responsibilities in Sociology. Candidates should send a letter of application, curriculum vitae, and the names/ addresses of three references to: Dr. Gregory Kowalski, Sociology Search Committee Chair, 7030 Haley Center, Auburn University AL 36849-5209. Review of applications will begin December 1, 2008. The candidate selected for this position must be able to meet eligibility requirements to work in the United States at the time appointment is scheduled to begin and continue working legally for the term of employment; excellent communication skills required. Auburn University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and applications from women and minorities are encouraged to apply.

Posted to SSS Website and SSSNET Listserv 9-26-08 at 12:58 pm