PRESIDENT’S WELCOME MESSAGE

Welcome to the Hyatt Regency in Greenville, SC
80th Annual Meeting of the Southern Sociological Society

Welcome to Greenville! We have a rich and exciting program planned for the meeting. The broad theme of Diversities: Equality, Inclusion, and Resistance has resulted in a tremendous number of stimulating papers and panels, plenary sessions, workshops, and other activities during our three days together. Please take the time to look through your program (whether you are using a paper copy or the app) and plan your schedule. So much to do, so little time!

Although we have a dazzling array of terrific sessions to attend, let me briefly call attention to several highlights from this year’s program. First, there are three outstanding mini-conferences, focusing on health disparities, immigration and immigrants in the South, and reproductive inequalities, respectively. Sessions associated with each mini-conference are clearly marked in the program, and they have been scheduled sequentially, so you can follow the mini-conferences from beginning to end if you so choose. Second, there are addresses by special guests on each day of the conference, including talks by David Williams on race, racism, and health, Pamela Oliver on racial inequities in the criminal justice system, Rogelio Saenz on U.S. immigration policy, Michele Lamont on sociology in the age of Trump, and Louise Cainkar on Islamophobia as a social problem. Third, there will be two special presidential panels devoted to sociological perspectives on the 2016 election cycle, featuring a number of diverse distinguished commentators. We hope you will attend as many of these special events as possible. And as you will see, there is so very much more!

We have worked hard to bring you a meeting that is not only intellectually stimulating, diverse, and vibrant, but also fun. The social calendar will be busy! Enjoy the Wednesday evening Welcome Reception and open mic. Enjoy the Graduate Student mixer on Thursday evening, which will include an opportunity to meet and greet candidates for office in the upcoming SSS elections. Several social events dot the calendar at this year’s meeting, including a Health Disparities mini-conference mixer on Wednesday night, a Gender Benders happy hour fundraising event on Thursday evening, and a “Coffee for a Cause” reception and fundraiser on Friday afternoon. Please check your program for the time and location of these events. After the awards ceremony and presidential address, join us for the reception, which features the music of Southtown, all the way from San Antonio.

Thank you for the great honor of serving as President of SSS. We hope you enjoy the program constructed by our marvelous co-chairs, Gabriel Acevedo and Terrence Hill, who have done amazing work. Our whole team welcomes you to Greenville – let’s get this meeting started!

Chris Ellison

GET THAT GRANT.

If you're a bright young scholar, turn your research idea into funded support by attending an NSF-sponsored summer course.

Each year, the National Science Foundation turns down hundreds of promising proposals for fellowships and grants. The reason: poor research design.

Maybe a project isn't clearly supported by a theory, or the researcher chooses the wrong method. Any way you slice it, well-designed research can mean the difference between an award letter and rejection.

This summer, the National Science Foundation sponsors a week-long course where experts teach the fundamentals of robust research design. You'll learn insiders' tips for how federal review panels think, and how to write a winning proposal.

Because the ultimate goal isn't just a good project. We want to help you land the funding opportunity of your dreams.

The Summer Course on Research Design (SCRD) happens July 17-21, 2017, at the University of Florida at Gainesville. The course is open to scholars in the social, behavioral, and economic sciences, with preference given to ABDs or early Ph.D.s. It is designed to help advance the participation and advancement of underrepresented groups in STEM fields. Tuition, housing, meals, and local transportation are provided.

Apply online: http://qualquant.org/methods/summer-course-for-research-design/

Course is limited to 12 participants.

THE COGNELLA TEXTBOOK SERIES ON RACE & ETHNICITY

The scholarship and teaching of race and ethnicity is central to understanding our experience in contemporary societies. Often a charged, sometimes contentious, area filled with complex problems, difficult conversations, and few easy solutions, the importance of engaging with race and ethnicity studies remains crucial to current social realities around the globe.

Cognella Academic Publishing seeks to produce a series of academic textbooks and anthologies of originally commissioned chapters on race and ethnicity. Cognella Sociology Acquisitions Editor Jim Bruce-Thompson has partnered with David L. Brunsma, Ph.D., serving in the capacity of advisory editor, to develop this series. Together, they've created a list of interrelated topics for prospective textbook development including but not limited to:

- Race & Ethnicity in the U.S.
- Global & Comparative Race & Ethnicity
- Immigration
- Racial Inequality
- Racism, Discrimination, & Prejudice
- Environmental Racism
- Intergroup Relations & Dialogue
- Race & Mass Media
- Whiteness
- Racial & Multiracial Identities
- Racial & Ethnic Minority Families
- Additional topics welcomed!

ABOUT THE EDITORS

David Brunsma, Ph.D. is Professor of Sociology at Virginia Tech, where he teaches and conducts research on race, racism, racialization, racial identity, human rights, and other areas. His numerous publications include The Leading Race: The United States and Human Rights and Beyond Black: Racial Identity in America. He is founding Co-Editor of Sociology of Race and Ethnicity and has served as editor for Societies Without Borders: Human Rights & the Social Sciences and the Race & Ethnicity section of Sociology Compass. Among other positions, he is currently Executive Officer of the Southern Sociological Society.

Jim Bruce-Thompson is a Senior Specialist Acquisitions Editor for Cognella with nearly 25 years' experience in academic publishing, including assignments with the University of Massachusetts Press, Wadsworth & Brooks/Cole Publishing (now Cengage) and SAGE Publications. He oversees the Cognella Academic Publishing lists for Family Studies, Gerontology, and Sociology.

Cognella is redefining academic publishing by providing teacher-driven, student-centric higher education course materials in print and digital formats under three imprints: Cognella Academic Publishing, University Readers, and Cognella Active Learning. Cognella also publishes engaging nonfiction titles featuring modern perspectives as Cognella Press.

Social Currents

Social Currents, the official journal of the Southern Sociological Society, is a broad-ranging social science journal that focuses on cutting-edge research from all methodological and theoretical orientations with implications for national and international sociological communities. The uniqueness of Social Currents lies in its format. The front end of every issue is devoted to short, theoretical, agenda-setting contributions and brief, empirical and policy-related pieces. The back end of every issue includes standard journal articles that cover topics within specific subfields of sociology, as well as across the social sciences more broadly.
