Cover and Program Art: "Invisible Subway" by Heather Dent (2021)

Heather Dent is a mixed media artist using digital, ink, and paper collage to create illustrations for books, portraits, and graphic design. She is also the founder of Winterberry Studio, where she teaches people how to create their own art using items from nature like pebbles, flower petals, and pinecones. She believes EVERYONE should have access to nature, art, and outdoor activities regardless of income, which is why she offers FREE nature art workshops in her hometown Berea Kentucky, and is able to do this through her supporters on Patreon.

Welcome Message from SSS President, Dr. Stephanie Bohon:

Dear Fellow Sociologists:

Welcome to Birmingham! It is a great joy to finally meet again in person after a two-year absence. Birmingham is a vibrant city, and I hope that you will find time between all the great sessions to patronize local businesses and restaurants and visit the many museums that surround us. The Executive Office and Program Committee have worked tirelessly to make this year's meeting safe, productive, happy, and engaging. My best wishes are extended to all of you for an outstanding conference, and if this is your first ever SSS meeting, I offer you a special welcome. If you see me, please introduce yourself. This meeting would not be possible without the considerable effort of Carmel Price, James Maples, Patricia Drentea, Verna Keith, David Brunsma, Lyla Byers, Cameron Lippard, and all of the members of the Program and Local Arrangements Committees who worked tirelessly under extraordinarily difficult circumstances to pull everything together. I am so grateful that these busy people were willing to volunteer their time to this difficult endeavor which they have done so flawlessly. As you enjoy your meeting, please enjoy our three presidential plenaries which include a podcast taping of Black in Appalachia, a presentation on the Birmingham-based Invisible Histories Project that collects the life stories of LGBTQIA people in the deep South, and a panel discussion on Sociology in non-traditional spaces led by Past President, Beth Rushing. You're going to be walking a lot, so everyone put on your comfortable shoes and, most importantly, have a great conference!

Stephanie Bohon, PhD President, Southern Sociological Society University of Tennessee-Knoxville

Welcome Message from SSS Program Chairs, Dr. Carmel Price and Dr. James Maples:

Greetings colleagues:

It has been an honor organizing your thoughtful, creative, and engaging papers, posters, panels, and session topics into this year's conference program. We have over 150 sessions and nearly 500 presentations included this year built around President Bohon's conference theme of "Invisibility." We hope that our time together in Birmingham provides us all with a spark of ideas, motivation to do meaningful academic work, and fellowship that is both productive and restorative. Our first in-person meeting together in two years is shaping up to be small but mighty.

In preparation for this meeting, we have just a few quick notes:

- 1. Presiders and presenters: should you have any issues in a session, we will be available to assist. Swing by registration for help.
- 2. Unfortunately, due to prohibitive costs, we will have very limited internet access at our conference venue. Please be prepared by bringing your presentation on a USB drive and/ or emailing it to your presider to download onto their laptop in advance to your session. You will be unable to pull your presentation from the Cloud during your session (unless you plan to use your personal data or a personal hot spot).
- 3. If you have any concerns or needs that we, as program chairs, can help you with then please contact us at program@southernsociologicalsociety.org.

We will be checking this email regularly during the annual meeting.

4. Please note the SSS Executive Office is requiring masks be worn during all conference sessions and events and in public places related to the conference. We appreciate your adherence to this policy.

We would like to thank our extraordinary committee of experts for their dedication and work in seeing this program to fruition. Likewise, thanks are due to our Executive Office for answering our many questions over the last six months.

We leave you with a quote from bell hooks, who has inspired both of us on personal and academic levels. This particular quote seems relevant to this year's program and the state of our world.

"Action, like a sacrament, is the visible form of an invisible spirit, an outward manifestation of an inward power."

See you in Birmingham!

Carmel Price, University of Michigan - Dearborn James Maples, Eastern Kentucky University

Message from our Mini-conference Organizers, Dr. Sancha Medwinter, Tannuja Rozario, and Monisha Jackson:

Have you heard about our Diasporic Womanisms and Indigenous Women's Movements of the Global South Mini-Conference? Come and join us for deep, reflexive decolonial, antiracist, antipatriarchal dialogues and a chance to be part of a community of likeminded BIPOC and QTPOC scholars! All our sessions are held in the same room (Forum H) both Thursday and Friday. We have an exciting slate of panels for you. Plan ahead and add to your calendar!

Thursday Sessions: If you're looking to be part of a community, don't miss our laid back, kick off icebreaker, introductions, and opening remarks, "Diasporic Womanisms: An Antiracist, Decolonial, Transnational Reclaiming of Our Souls, Our Priorities, and Our Time for Community-Facing Dialogue and Community Survival Scholarship and Activism." (8-8:30am); "Decolonial Epistemologies and Pedagogies" (8:30am-9:45am); "Black and Indigenous Ecologies" (10:00 am-11:15 am); "Religion, Spirituality, Memory, and Healing".

Friday Sessions: "Women, Survival, and Migration" (8:30 am-9:45 am); "Dalit Women and India's Anticaste Movements" (10:00 am-11:15 am); "Black Womanist and Feminist Theory and Methodology" (1:00 pm-2:15 pm).

See you all soon!

Mini-Conference Organizers, Sancha, Tannuja, and Monisha

Social Currents

Social Currents, the official journal of the Southern Sociological Society, is a broad-ranging social science journal that focuses on cutting-edge research from all methodological and theoretical orientations with implications for national and international sociological communities. The uniqueness of Social Currents lies in its format. The front end is devoted to short, theoretical, agenda-setting contributions and brief, empirical and policy-related pieces. The back end of every issue includes standard journal articles that cover topics within specific subfields of sociology, as well as across the social sciences more broadly.

Session Glossary

AMCR- These "Author-Meets-Curious-Reader" Sessions are an opportunity for authors and other experts in their field to discuss recent publications. Join these conversations to learn more about new sociological material and to hear from those likely to agree, or disagree, with the conclusions drawn.

Panel Sessions- These curated conversations focus on a topic and the scholars making waves within it. In viewing these sessions, you will both learn from those presenting and have the opportunity to ask questions to learn more about the subject.

Paper Sessions- Similarly to in person conferences, paper sessions are the opportunity to learn from authors about the work they have been doing and the new sociological knowledge coming out of it. These sessions are built of 10-minute presentations and question and answer sessions where time allows.

Poster Sessions- Almost paper sessions but based on posters, these sessions allow scholars to share their work with an active audience. Presenters in these sessions range from undergraduates sharing their work with the community for the first time to tenured professors continuing to share their knowledge.

Roundtables – Roundtables are informal presentations focused more on conversations about the researcher's topic. These do not include formal presentations opting instead for an informed conversational approach.

Workshops- Focused on skills sociologists use such as publishing and teaching, these provide an opportunity to learn from colleagues about the inner workings of our discipline. Attend these to learn from experienced members of our network about the ways they do their work as sociologists.

Anti-Harassment Policy

SSS reminds everyone: Our Annual Meeting is convened for the purposes of professional development and scholarly educational interchange in the spirit of free inquiry and free expression. Harassment of colleagues, students, hotel staff or other conference participants undermines the principle of equity at the heart of these professional fora and is inconsistent with the principles of free inquiry and free expression. Consequently, harassment is considered by SSS to be a serious form of professional misconduct. The following Anti-Harassment Policy outlines expectations for all those who attend or participate in SSS meetings. It reminds SSS meeting participants that all professional academic ethics and norms apply as standards of behavior and interaction at these meetings. Purpose SSS is committed to providing a safe and welcoming conference environment for all participants, free from harassment based on age, race, ethnicity, national origin, religion, language, sexual orientation, gender identity or gender expression, disability, health conditions, socioeconomic status, marital status, domestic status, or parental status (hereafter, simply harassment). "Participant" in this policy refers to anyone present at SSS meetings, including staff, contractors, vendors, exhibitors, venue staff, SSS members, and all other attendees.

Expected Behavior

All participants at SSS meetings are expected to abide by this Anti-Harassment Policy in all meeting venues including ancillary events as well as official and unofficial social gatherings.

- Follow the norms of professional respect that are necessary to promote the conditions for free academic interchange.
- If you witness potential harm to a conference participant, be proactive in helping to mitigate or avoid that harm.
- Alert conference security personnel or law enforcement if you see a situation in which someone might be in imminent physical danger.

Unacceptable Behavior

Harassment of any participant is unethical behavior under the American Sociological Association Code of Ethics, which offer guiding principles for how sociologists should conduct themselves in all professional activities both in person and online. Harassment consists of a single intense and severe act or of multiple persistent or pervasive acts which are demeaning, abusive, offensive, or create a hostile professional or workplace environment. Harassment may include sexual solicitation, physical advance, or verbal or non-verbal conduct that is sexual in nature; it may also include threatening, intimidating, or hostile acts; circulation of written or graphic material that denigrates or shows hostility toward an individual or group; epithets, slurs, or negative stereotyping based on group identity. Attendees are encouraged to immediately report instances of harassment during the Annual Meeting to a member of the SSS Executive Committee (see committee list at https://www.southernsociologicalsociety.org/documents). To read the American Sociological Association Code of Ethics in its entirety, visit www.asanet.org and follow the link to "Ethics."

25. Rendering Sociological Work Visible in Unexpected Places [Presidential Plenary]

Thursday | 11:30 am-12:45 pm | Ballroom 1

Organizers: Beth Rushing, Appalachian College Association; Katherine Everhart, Tusculum University; Lisette Garcia, Pennsylvania State University; Maliq Matthew, Northwestern Mutual; Alexis Yamokoski, Central Ohio Transit Authority

The normative employment path for those with doctorates in sociology has traditionally been a faculty position in a sociology department. Increasingly, though, Ph.D. sociologists are finding themselves in other kinds of jobs: research organizations, nonprofits, university administration, and faculty positions outside of sociology. The work done in these positions is often deeply sociological, even while incumbents in these positions are not always identified as sociologists. Their sociological work is too often invisible. Panelists in this session have extensive experience with employment in such positions. The panelists will speak about their own invisible sociological practice and will address strategies for supporting greater visibility of sociological practice both within workplaces and within disciplinary organizations such as the SSS.

62. Black in Appalachia Podcast: Stop Sleeping on Bama! [Presidential Plenary]

Thursday | 5:30 pm-6:45 pm | Ballroom 1

Organizers: Enkeshi El-Amin, University of Tennessee; Pumpkin Starr, Place Justice Popular Educator; William Isom, Director of Black in Appalachia; Joseph Fioravanti, Audio Engineer

In this live show of the Black in Appalachia Podcast co-hosts Enkeshi El-Amin and Pumpkin Starr along with guests will interrogate conceptions of the South and Appalachia, while exploring what it means for Alabama to be included in Appalachian visibility. Through the racialization of both Appalachian and Southern narratives, Alabama has been positioned outside of Appalachia and has become synonymous with the oppression that defines Southern places. The work of Black in Appalachia is to highlight a complex and complicated understanding of the region whereby many Black Appalachians are visible and appreciated. Alabama provides the opportunity for an analysis of the cultural mechanisms in which predominantly Black places have been excluded from mainstream perceptions of Appalachia despite its foundational importance to building the region. We ground this show with conversations with Alabama based cultural and community workers who will share a localized viewpoint that gives more flavor to the "many Appalachias" of Appalachia.

Discussants:

- Enkeshi El-Amin, University of Tennessee
- Pumpkin Starr, Place Justice Popular Educator
- William Isom, Director of Black in Appalachia

Nefarious Invisibility: Places to Hide in the Production of Sociological Knowledge......Stephanie Bohon, University of Tennessee-Knoxville

69

Organizer: Vice President Cameron Lippard, Appalachian State University

Sociologists frequently use invisibility to refer to acts of erasure such as we see in the concept of invisible labor. Occasionally we use invisibility to refer to benign neglect of topics such as sociology's lack of attention to the role of transportation in everyday life. Bohon explores a third form--nefarious invisibility--a practice whereby bad actors use social structures to hide in plain sight. Examples of nefarious invisibility include astroturfing, where corporate entities create fake grass roots-appearing groups to push unpopular agendas like smokers' rights or to oppose popular ones (such as the expansion of wind power). In this talk, Bohon discusses how racist nativists exploit knowledge production structures in academia, making
